A Speech Made by J. W. Kinsley Rankles in the Bosoms of German Republicans.

More Such Speeches and it Would it Impossible to Find a Republican Around There.

The republicans had a rally at East Helena last Satorday night, and the result was that the democratic vote will be largely increused at the ensuing election. The big guns of Helena, with a number of small fire arms, were put in training in the smelter city, and from the fusilade that followed it was expected that the enemy had been so completely routed that not one would show his face again, but such was not the result | Instead of making republican, the orators of the occasion made demoeratic votes, and the sting which was left

All named made speeches and made it appear that the democrats were "in collusion with the devil," so said "Was there anything said that displeased the people irrespective of party."
was asked.
"I should say there was. Of course we had to stay and listen to Thornburg, Judges Howey and Sterling pop their old chestnuts and see them feel around for democratic paws to pull them out, but we expected that and application of the coming as democratic paws to pull them out, but we expected that and application to the coming as democratic paws to family the country, and any foreign born resident of whatever nationality, who has declared his intention of becoming a citizen by taking out his first papers, can vote as he pleases, for whatever party he pleases, and the coming election will surely show are democrats." WILLIAM L. GREENE.

democratic paws to pull them out, but we expected that and applauded with the rest merely to keep up enthusiasm When Kinsley came to speak, however, there was a different kettle of fish dished up for us. He made me tired and I left.

The German's I talked to said while it was true their women worked hard taking care of their homes, he had never seen them sawing wood for fifteen cents a cord or my other sum. That was an unlucky peech of Kinsley's for his party and it libear its good fruit in East Heiena."

have enrolled eighty Saturday night. I will tell you how they were enrolled. About forty put down their names and the names of others whom they claimed were republicans and would vote the republican ticket. They sold the goods, but I don't think they can deliver them. Up to last Saturday night—and a careful canvas has been made—the democrats numbered 150 and the republicans 100. The republicans 100. licans 100. Or better still, if it isn't possible for any democratic speakers to set down if it isn't possible for any democratic speakers to get down and see us, send kinsley down. St. Aloysius' Parochial School. St. Aloysius' Catholic Parochial School, on the Catholic hill, was re-opened on Wednesday, Sept. 3, with unusually bright and flattering prospects. The number of pupils was larger than that of all preceding years and new names are being enrolled every day.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Brondel opened the session by a very appropriate address to the children and introduced to them Father C. G. Follet, whom he lately appointed principal of the Catholic school for boys in Helena. Father Follet is teaching the highest class himself, and judging from the numerous improvements already made in the material of all the class rooms and the new branches added to the programme of studies of last year, there is every reason to believe that the Catholic schools of Helena will be second to none in the state.

Many of our legistators have an itching to become constitution makers, though 'constitution tinkers' would describe them better. Probably it was observation of this which led Thomas H. Benton to say: "The safety of the country is in the tranquil ticians." It is not a good thing to frequently amend the constitution of a state, but with an individual it is different. Our constitutions every now and the become impaired, and then need to be made over or built up again. Travel amid scenes of beauty and other comfortable and luxurious conditions, is one of the best constitution-makers. To secure the greatest here.
